Annual wing picnic featured fun for all

Picnickers enjoy food fun and camaraderie

Although no burgers were burned, per se, more than 1,200 were grilled at this year's Wing picnic in Lion's Park July 12.

Just as many brauts and hot dogs added to the feast for the hungry crowd of more than 1,000 Wyoming Air National Guard members and their families.

"I think it's a great turnout; food was good — weather is wonderful," said Senior Master Sgt. Sue Nagel.

What's a picnic without fun? Activities for children were provided by family support's 36 volunteers.

Denise Rampolla, wing family readiness coordinator said "It's all about the guard family; but more than that now that we have active-duty. Regardless of which place you come from — it's a family."

A number of people in attendance also witnessed first sergeants who "won" the most amount of money get a pie in the face from members of their squadrons.

Local military support services, like the F.E. Warren Air Force Base commissary and TriWest, also were on hand to provide information to picnic attendees.

(Top) Master Sgt. Ann Kimsey, 187th Aeromedical Evacuation Squadron first sergeant, was one of the lucky few to be pied by their squadron members. (Bottom) Staff Sgt. Crews battle California fires - again

By Staff Sergeant Luke Johnson
 302nd Air Expeditionary Group Public Affairs

SACRAMENTO, Calif. – A modular airborne fire fighting system equipped C-130 Hercules of the 302nd Air Expeditionary Group flying out of McClellan Airfield here dropped its millionth gallon of fire retardant on California wildfires July 11. Flying operations began June 26.

A C-130 from the Wyoming Air National Guard dropped the millionth gallon of fire retardant on the Motion Fire located within the Shasta Complex located in northern California’s Shasta and Trinity counties.

Aircraft mission commander for the flight that dropped the millionth gallon, Maj. Justin Walrath, of the 153rd Airlift Wing, said it is exciting being part of the MAFFS missions and a good number of the MAFFS flights have focused on the wild fires in Northern California.

“We’ve been fighting most of the fires up north around the Lake Shasta area,” Walrath said, adding he considers it an honor to be flying with the Air National Guard and participating in MAFFS operations helping to fight California’s wildfires.

The 302nd AEG is a part of a unified military effort of U.S. Northern Command to provide assistance to the U.S. Forest Service, California Department of Forestry and Fire Protection and the National Inter-agency Fire Center. It includes MAFFS-equipped C-130s and U.S. Marine Corps and U.S. Navy Reserve medium- and heavy-lift helicopters.

Editor’s Note: The Wyoming Air National Guard has three C-130s flying MAFFS mission over a variety of California fires. Crews are rotating every other week. The 153rd last fought fires in California in October.

Above, MAFFS 1 was temporarily renamed to drop the 1 millionth gallon of retardant on California fires on July 11.

Day Camp held Saturday of August UTA

The WyNG Child and Youth Program will host its Third Annual Day Camp on Aug. 2, from 9-3 at Lions Park, in Cheyenne. Children who have a close family member (parent, step-parent, grandparent, aunt, uncle, sibling, etc.) AND will be entering grades K-6 in the fall of 2008 are eligible to attend.

Space is limited so reserve a spot early by contacting Robin Gorsuch, WyNG state youth coordinator, 772-5018, robin.gorsuch@us.army.mil, or Denise Rampolla, WyANG family readiness and support services coordinator at 772-6063, denise.rampolla@wychevyang.af.mil. Cut off for registration is July 25.

There will be new activities this year as well as favorites from previous years.

Approximately 50 youth attended last year and had a great time making tie-dye T-shirts, ice cream, bottle rockets and most importantly, friends with other Guard kids. This camp is possible through the support of Boy Scout Pack 221.

Enhance your relationship during retreat

The 2008 PREP (Prevention and Relationship Enhancement Program) marriage retreat weekends are scheduled for:

August 8-10, in Buena Vista, Colo.

October 10-12, in Estes Park, Colo.

PREP is appropriate for couples at all stages of their relationship.

Couples learn important techniques for communication to keep them connected during times of separation and deployment.

To register, or for questions, contact the wing family program office.

Third quarter outstanding Airmen announced

“Airmen of the Quarter” selection for the Third Quarter of 2008 were announced in July.

The Wing’s outstanding Airmen are:
Airman of the Quarter – Senior Airman Bruce Scheel, Jr., 243rd Air Traffic Control Squadron;

Non-commissioned Officer of the Quarter – Tech. Sgt. Milton Fitzgerald, 153rd Airlift Wing;

Senior Non-commissioned Officer of the Quarter – Master Sgt. Timothy Liddle, 153rd Airlift Wing.

These members are recognized for their contributions and accomplishments in the Wyoming Air National Guard. Their commitment to excellence and exemplary practices personify the future leaders of this great organization.

Congratulations to these individuals.

CGO announces first two quarter winners

The winners of the Wing’s first two 2008 Company Grade Officers of the Quarter recently were announced.

Capt. Holly Shenefelt, 84th Civil Support Team, was chosen as the Company Grade Officer of the First Quarter.

Capt. Katherine Books, 187th Aeromedical Evacuation Squadron, was named the Company Grade Officer of the Second Quarter.

“It was a very difficult decision to make on both boards - the work being done and that reflection in the packages submitted shows the outstanding work going on everywhere,” said Maj. Rachel Van Tine, board chairman.
